ON EMERGENCY MEDICINE IN TEXAS

NEWSLETTER: MARCH 2018

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

*Heidi Knowles, MD, FACEP
President*

As I sit down to write this message, I am struck by the fact that my year as President is coming to a close. This has been a year filled with accomplishments, challenges and real change. We started the year in the middle of a rather contentious legislative session, surviving relatively unscathed, despite attempts at dulling the edge of tort law...

Disaster Volunteering. Are you ready?

REPORT

Justin Hensley, MD

Harvey. Irma. Jose. Katia. Earthquakes in Mexico. Fires in California. Too many tornadoes to name. Mudslides and floods in Asia. Mass shootings. There are disasters everywhere, and they're happening every day it seems. What should your role as a physician be in these disasters...

A recruitment banner for U.S. Army Medicine. It features the text "SERVE YOUR COUNTRY AND YOUR CAREER. EXPLORE ARMY MEDICINE." in white and yellow. Below it is a "LEARN MORE >>" link. The banner includes a photo of several medical professionals in white coats and a U.S. Army star logo with "U.S. ARMY" text below it.

REPORT

Tavisty Tarkenton, MS2

Walking in to the Walter E. Washington Convention Center, I was in awe of the size and prominence of the building. Although not packed yet, as only students were in attendance day one, you could still feel the excitement as we filed into the conference room...
